

Cup Game Instructions

This fun cooperative 10 Commandment game helps students review and apply the 10 Commandments to everyday common situations. Try it out on 4th, 5th or 6th graders to augment any lesson on The Ten Commandments, Students need a game like this not only to get used to the rich wording of the 10 Commandments, but also to get the idea on how The Ten Commandments serve as our moral compass.

This 10 Commandment game is simple to make and it can easily be reused from year after year. Simply print the template on Avery 5095 labels and then put the labels on 10 plastic drinking cups.

2 layers of cups placed randomly works well so players actually focus on targeting the right answer. Building a taller tower work can be done, too, if desired.

I like the excitement of a very tall pyramid tower made in a 4 layers. However, in playing this game, I prefer to spread the cups out in a broader 2 layer tower as seen in the photo. The reason stems from the fact that the game calls for the participants to knock down a particular Commandment cup. With only 2 layers, the players are forced to focus their attention on aiming for the correct cup.

Supplies for 10 Commandment Game:

- 1 foam ball about 3 to 4 inches in diameter

- 10 large plastic beverage cups labeled with the 10 Commandments
- Labels attached to the cups
  - For Avery 5095 labels, use the pdf template as seen below. (If you would like the editable word version of this template