

God's Authority Over the World

Key Theme:

The secular culture in which we live is very human-centered; however, these outcomes remind children that God is the creator of all and therefore the source of all authority. People in authority should always act and make laws that are consistent with God's law. These lessons also teach the children that God cares for all people, and that as a Church, we have a particular responsibility to those who are marginalized.

Becoming Disciples at Home:

Help your child recognize who are legitimate sources of authority: teachers, family members, etc

2

Follow the rules at your house and at school

3
